Number Two in the class is Jessica Silva. Jessica has proven her loyalty to East Side throughout the years with her endless involvement. After high school, Jessica will attend Rutgers University. She would like to thank Mr. Teheran for always motivating his students in any way possible. She says, "The funny thing about Mr. Teheran is when someone makes a ridiculous comment, he'll always come up with an insightful fact and lecture us for about half an hour." Jessica would also like to thank her parents who always encouraged her to work hard for whatever she wanted. To the Senior class, Jessica says, "Never doubt yourself because you'd be amazed at what one person can accomplish in life."

Top 10 Seniors

Jessmarie Acevedo came to East Side her Sophomore year, after moving to the U.S. from Puerto Rico. She said that her transition to East Side was difficult because she had to learn a new language and adapt to a new culture. Jessmarie considers her mother to be her role model because she was always a good example for her to follow. Jessmarie plans on attending college after graduation to study Biology with a concentration in medical technology. She hopes to one day work in her own laboratory. To her fellow seniors, Jessmarie says, "Education is the key to a better future. Do something positive with your life."

4

Andreia Domingues

In ten years, Andreia Domingues hopes to be a forensic scientist, working with criminalists and evidence. To achieve this goal, she plans to attend Essex Community College and then John Jay College to study Criminal Justice. Andreia says to her peers at East Side, "Well Seniors, I think that a part of our lives is coming to an end, and everyone will be going in different directions. I'm personally going to jump to a whole new level in my life to a brighter future. I wish that everyone in the senior class will be very successful and make the right choices. Keep focused on your goals and dreams, and don't give up on them. We only live once, so take advantage of every opportunity. I believe in myself, and in every single one of you, because we can be big people out there and make a difference. We are the future. We make the future. Good luck."

Terri Best

If you've ever stepped into the East Side library, chances are that you've seen Terri Best. Terri is a devoted member of our debate team, and is constantly researching and writing about her case. When asked which teacher was the most influential, Terri did not hesitate to name her debate coach, Ms. Rosenbaum. In the fall, Terri plans to attend Spelman College to study Political Science. She would like to thank her mother, who she named as her role model, for teaching her to always be strong. To her classmates, Terri says, "Use your opportunities to the fullest. Never close an open door, and work hard to get what you desire, because it will pay off."

Diana Pinho

Artistic, Creative. Witty. These words describe Number Six in the class, Ms. Diana Pinho. Diana will attend Essex County College after graduation, and then plans on transferring to New Jersey City University. She wants to study art, and one day hopes to be an illustrator of comic books. Diana has no regrets about high school. To her fellow classmates, she says, "Good luck in the future, and always pursue your dreams."

Joana Teixeira

To the Senior class, Juan says, "Be yourself and have faith in everything you do. Always be on the right path, and that will help to make you successful in life."

10

Giovanni Rivas

Pensive. Determined. Powerful. These words are the tripod to describe Mr. Giovanni Rivas. Giovanni considers Senior year to be his most challenging year yet because of the physical and academic pressures he has encountered. After graduation, Giovanni plans to attend college to study psychology. He says his role model is video game legend Needles Karie, a.k.a. Sweettooth, because he is one of Twisted Metal's greatest characters. Giovanni has no regrets about high school, and his final words to the Senior class are, "Use your time wisely."
